

Special Instructions for the Inspector

Provide direction to the building inspector when circumstances exist that may make it difficult to perform the inspection. Such circumstances might include: locked gates or doors, work locations that are not obvious or readily visible from the usual approach to the site, animals or pets that may get loose or prevent access to the site.

Directions might include a contact phone number, directions around a building or property that indicate where the permitted work is being done, or a lock box number.

The inspector needs access to the work site and a responsible party must be available. Otherwise, a re-inspection will be necessary and a re-inspection fee may be charged.

Place this form in the permit packet directly behind the permit.
